Fellow Scouts Adam Collazo and Sahil Patel are members of the Exchange Ambulance of the Islips. The Exchange is offering several free classes and would love for our Scouts to participate.

These are excellent training opportunities that would greatly benefit the troop. It is crucial for Scouts to learn CPR and bleeding control techniques, as they often participate in remote outdoor activities where professional medical help may be hours away. These skills empower Scouts to respond quickly in emergencies, helping prevent deaths from cardiac arrest or severe bleeding.

In addition, this training supports Scout advancement requirements while building confidence, preparedness, and leadership in real-world situations.

Please see the information below for available classes and participation details.
